

Kinley Tshering

Agronomist

Kinley Tshering (Mr) is research scholar at the University of Western Australia investigating the soil-plant mechanisms in enhancing nitrogen-use efficiency, grain yield and protein content in wheat through the combined application of novel rock mineral fertilizer and microbial consortium inoculant. Previously in Bhutan he worked as a researcher at the Agriculture Research and Development Centre (2004-2016) and Agriculture Production Division for the Ministry of Agriculture (2017-2019). Kinley, completed MPhil in Soil Science from the University of Reading, UK, in 2009 and BSc Horticulture from the University of Agricultural Sciences at Dharwad, India. Email address - kinleytshering2011@gmail.com

Water Research Bhutan