

Yeschi Choden

Civil Engineer

Yeschi Choden (Ms) has Masters of Technology in Environmental Management of Rivers and Lakes from IIT Roorkee India. She comes with a track record of research and publications on municipal solid waste management technologies such as waste to energy conversion, and investigating emission of greenhouse (methane) emission from dumpsites. She also pursues her research interest in exploration of groundwater and water quality aspects.

Currently, Ms. Choden works at the College of Science and Technology, the Royal University of Bhutan as a faculty of Department of Civil Engineering. Email address- yeshichoden.cst@rub.edu.bt

Water Research Bhutan