

Leki Dorji

Water & Irrigation Specialist

Leki Dorji (Mr) is a lecturer at the College of Science & Technology for Department of Civil Engineering & Engineering Geology under Royal University of Bhutan (RUB). He received Masters in Technology (M.Tech) in Water Resource Management - Specialized in Irrigation Water Management, from Indian Institute of Technology (IIT Roorkee) in 2011. He completed his B.E. Civil Engineering from the College of Science & Technology in 2007. He teaches the modules for Bachelor of Civil Engineering programme, Architecture Programme, Geology engineering programme, & Master in Construction Management. His Research areas interest include - climate change & environmental research, hydrology of surface & ground water, river & flood Modelling, irrigation & agriculture. He has also been working as focal person for international collaboration - Water Infrastructure & Technology between RUB & IIT Roorkee since 2016. He is also Technical Working Group of E-flow Bhutan. Email address - lekidorji.cst@rub.edu.bt

Water Research Bhutan